Class V

Read the Comprehension passage and answer the questions that follow:-

Elephants are royal animals! No wonder kings mounted them when they had to travel from one place to another and even during war times. Have you ever mounted an elephant? You will feel like a prince or princess enjoying a majestic ride and a lovely view of the surroundings.

Indian elephants have smaller ears when compared to their African friends. They have thick, dry skin with little spiky hair and are greyish-brown in colour. They are found in the forest areas of Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Odisha and Assam. They love to move from one forest area to another and surprisingly the females lead the herd. Elephants are vegetarians and feed on grasses, bamboo, leaves and even bananas.

The elephants are the most intelligent animals. They are very sensitive and live close to their friends and families helping and looking after each other. Elephants can be spotted crying or weeping at the loss of their loved ones. They never leave a wounded friend alone and have been seen digging graves for the burial of the dead.

At the same time, they show a sense of humour and are capable of mimicry and play. They can copy sounds they hear and love to suck up water and spray it around. They can use tools, unfasten belts and chains used to tie them. What is more, they can even play games!

Elephants are huge yet cute animals. But they are getting extinct due to deforestation. It is said that people kill them for their tusks and hide. Don't you think we should protect these animals and not hurt them?
