CLASS- VI

SECTION- A (READING)

Q1.Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

After humans, chimpanzees are the most intelligent communicators in the animal world. They talk to each other through a huge range of vocal sounds, hand gestures, body movements and facial expressions. Gorillas are too extremely intelligent. In one of the studies done at Stanford University, California, a female gorilla called Koko, has been taught 1,000 words of sign language, and can understand about 2,000 words of spoken English.

People and animals have worked together for years. Many animals are trained to help and communicate with people. The 'seeing- eye' dogs help the visually challenged while the hearing dogs help the hearing impaired by alerting them to doorbells, alarms and to people calling them. Specially, trained Capuchin monkeys help people suffering from severe paralysis. These monkeys can change CDs, fetch food and even comb hair.
